Veganism is now mainstream

The modern wave of veganism started with The Vegan Society in 1951, as a dietary based movement that soon shifted to an animal rights group. Their manifesto stated: "The object of the Society shall be to end the exploitation of animals by man.

That movement has come a long way. veganism is now an expectation by the public, rather than a niche 'society'. It's now 2023. You now have fashion-forward vegan footwear, beauty, foods -anything animal friendly you wish available at your fingertips. And you can rarely tell the difference between a vegan product, and one made from animals. Take a bite into a McPlant burger and you will wonder if you are truly eating a vegan meal.

The same is true for your footwear, for your personal care products, and your beauty products. You cannot tell the difference in most cases between a fabulous microfibre upper on a pair of boots and one made from an imported animal hide. So why buy animal-based products? There are still some brands out there that are not animal friendly. That is why London based V.GAN launched in 2018. This is a brand that is PETA certified as 'unconditionally vegan'. With over 50 styles of men's and women's shoes, boots and sandals, shoppers from around the world have now purchased more than 30,000 pairs

Natural honey beeswax skincare

It's well documented how bees and insects are under threat. Maybe less well known is their efficient society and relentless work ethic which enables people to benefit from excess honey, beeswax and propolis which can be used to maintain good health and help skin. As the name suggests, bees were the starting point and continue to inspire this company. Combining these core ingredients with carefully selected plant and essential oils for fragrance has allowed BeeInspired to create a multi-awardwinning skin-care range. Every ingredient is luxurious, yet pricing is deliberately affordable with con chosen packaging. A total of 90% of online and 60% of face-to face sales are returning customers as these creams really work. Those with sensitive skin and various skin conditions find the propolis range can help. The new propolis soap-shampoo bar and Propolis serum answer the request for something to ease scaln irritation

Talking with customers encourages the constant evolution of products. In 2022 a nut-free range, an Age Embracing Face Cream and a Peaceful Night

Reesway in all the creams leaves a fine silky film which holds the moisture in protecting the skin BeeInspired's Silky Hand Cream with Geranium and Orange has beaten market leaders three times to Best Hand Cream awards whilst Soothing Cream and Intensive Hand Cream, both with Calendula, are brand leaders

Let the bees give your skin a new year treat With every purchase over £25, you can choose two free samples of other creams to try

A solar light is an instant win for people and the planet

Sunshine is in abundance in Africa. But when the sun goes down, the working day ends for millions of people. For millions of others the only option is to ignite kerosene lamps and paraffin candles, which emit toxic fumes into their lungs and into the earth's atmosphere. Ye with the power of solar and the flick of a switch that story can be changed.

SolarAid are delivering clean, safe, and affordable solar lights to rural communities across sub-Saharan Africa, reaching the people

Find out more at solar-aid.org/instant or scan the QR code. Follow @SolarAid. email info@solar-aid.org. or call 020 7278 0400 for more information

When you help get one of their solar lights into the hands of a farmer, it means they can sort through their soya beans even after the sun sets. For a child it means they can get ahead in school because they can do their homework in the evening. And for a midwife, it means she can deliver babies safely through the night.

Want to help? Donate to SolarAid to get solar lights into the hands of people without electricity in their homes You can make real, sustainable change happen.
